Responsible.
Comprehensive.
Practical

Maximize profits with effective and trackable email campaigns.

Why are targeted email campaigns valuable to your company?

Delivers a message to an already receptive audience, a market that has expressed an interest in your products or services.

Can deliver your message quickly and efficiently. Takes days, not weeks, to coordinate, execute and track the results of an email campaign.

A much lower cost solution than a traditional direct marketing campaign.

Easy to track, test and evaluate email campaigns. Makes it easier to test market different creative, offers, and lists.

Excellent response rates. Email campaigns tend to generate higher response and conversion rates than traditional direct marketing strategies.

The Long-Term Marketing Solution

Direct email marketing campaigns are intended to generate new clients, keep existing clients, and increase the level and quality of customer service your company offers. By continually prospecting and testing new markets, your client base can grow.

New dimension of marketing

Tracking customers who have bought from you in the past and continually contacting them with a new message or offer on a regular basis can increase customer loyalty and generate repeat business. Newsletters are also an effective means of continually updating your existing client base with new products or services your company has to offer. BroadNet has the expertise and experience to be your long-term email marketing solution provider.

E-mail is a quick and effective way to communicate with customers, introduce your company to prospects and support your other marketing initiatives

We are so confident you will find our e-marketing solutions to be a cost effective marketing tool.
